To Whom It May Concern:

I first met Erin Wopperer one year ago when she was student teaching here in the social studies department. From there, she was hired full-time and became my team teacher this year in American Studies. She has proven to be a very enthusiastic and driven teacher.

The fact that she is young, allows her to bring a tremendous sense of youthfulness to her teaching style. Beyond this, she is always willing to try new ideas and to take risks in her teaching. It is just a prediction, but I suspect she will always bring this quality of enthusiasm to her work.

Erin is committed to helping students enjoy history. Since we team teach, many of our students have approached me to share a sense of how much they are enjoying history and how much she has helped them embrace the subject.

Interestingly, Erin has a strong background in language arts. Here, she has taken risks which have also proven to be worthwhile. In short, I have witnessed her grow and develop as a well rounded educator which I am confident will continue for the remainder of her career.

It is without hesitation that I can recommend Erin Wopperer for a teaching position. I know she will be successful at most if not all that she tries to achieve.

Please feel free to contact me at the above address if you have any further questions.

Sincerely,

Ms. Stella Martin
